It was released on October 16, 2009, by Epic Records, as the second single from the album. The song was written and produced by Shakira, with additional songwriting and production from Pharrell Williams and The Neptunes respectively. There is an alternative version song from American artist Kid Cudi, while its Spanish-language version Lo Hecho Está Hecho (English: What Is Done Is Done) contains additional lyrical contributions from Uruguayan musician Jorge Drexler. Did It Again is an electropop song with elements of samba. Lyrically, it details Shakira's involvement in a man's extramarital affair, leading to her feeling guilty and hurt about it. When it was released, Did It Again was well received by music critics, many of whom praised its lyrical content. Commercially, the song achieved moderate success. It reached a top twenty in nations including Spain, where it certified gold, and Italy. In the United States, Did It Again reached number one on the Billboard Hot Dance Club Songs and Latin Pop Airplay chart, peaking at number six and eleven on the Billboard Hot Latin Songs and Tropical Songs chart respectively. An accompanying music video for Did It Again was directed by Sophie Muller, and features Shakira fighting a man in a bedroom. It generated a favorable response from critics and was complimentary for its dance scenes. For further marketing, Shakira performed Did It Again on a number of TV shows. Background and composition Did It Again A 19-second sample of the song containing its chorus and part of the hook, which some music critics compared to that in Rihanna's song Umbrella. [3] Did It Again was written by Shakira and Pharrell Williams, and is one of the four tracks on the album Shakira co-produced with The Neptunes, the others being Long Time, Why Wait, and Good Stuff. [4] [5] About her collaboration with Williams, Shakira commented, he comes up with ideas, and he performs them immediately. It's really cool, because I'm a little slower, and he's the man with the big strokes, and he really comes up with great ideas. It was a great synergy. [6] A Spanish version of the song, titled Lo Hecho Está Hecho, was also released and includes additional songwriting by Jorge Drexler. [7] Musically, Did It Again is a midtempo electropop song that contains elements of samba. [3] [9] The song's lyrics are confessional in nature and express Shakira's growing guilt for being involved in a sexual affair with a married man, and her inability to terminate it, hence the title Did It Again. [10] Both the English and Spanish versions of the song were released internationally on October 16, 2009. [11] [12] The single was not officially released on the U.S. market, where it was replaced by Give It Up to Me, the third single from the album. [3] A remix of the English version of the song, with additional vocals from Kid Cudi, was later released on December 11, 2009. [14] Cudi's contribution to the song consisted of a rap verse halfway through the song in which he raps about bringing good vibes into Shakira's life. [15] Critically received Did It Again was well received by music critics. Fraser McAlpine from the BBC, praised the lyrics to the song, and praised Shakira's unpredictability and expressiveness. [16] Evan Sawdey of PopMatters praised the song's production and branded Shakira's songwriting as her strongest costume. [17] The Popjustice review of the album described the song as brilliant, noting that it was a good choice for a single. [18] Lahmeik Stacy of Yahoo! Voices commented on the rapid musical arrangement of the song, saying it immediately requires the listener's attention. [9] Anthony Balderrama from Consequence of Sound, singled out Did It Again as one of the strongest songs on the album, along with She Wolf and Why Wait, and also as a good choice for creating a Spanish version. [19] AllMusic's Stephen Erlewine chose the song as a highlight of the album. [20] At the 19th Annual Latin Music Awards hosted by the American Society of Composers, writers and publishers, Drexler and Williams won an award in the Pop/Ballad category for their composition of the song. [21] The Spanish version Lo Hecho Está Hecho was recognized as an award-winning song at the 2011 BMI Latin Awards. [22] The Spanish version also received a nomination for Canción del Año (Song of the Year) in the Pop category at the 2011 Premio Lo Nuestro awards ceremony. [37] Music video Shakira about in a bedroom in the music video, where she engages in battle with her partner. The music video for Did It Again was recorded in September 2009 and directed by Sophie Muller, who had previously worked with Shakira on the music video for Hip's Don't Lie. [40] Shakira cited the paintings by British painter Lawrence Alma-Tadema, which detailed scenes of women in Turkish bathrooms, as an inspiration behind the video. [40] After Shakira was introduced to a contemporary Icelandic dance form by a friend, she and Muller enlisted the Icelandic choreographer Katrin Hall to choreograph the dance sequences in the video. [40] When asked about the inspiration behind the music video for Did It Again, Shakira said that she and Muller brought all these pieces – Moroccan women spinning and turning their heads, and the poetry from Alma-Tadema's paintings, plus this Icelandic contemporary dance piece – and we mixed all these pieces together for the video. [40] The videos for both the original English version and the Spanish translation were released on October 30, 2009. [42] A video for the remix version of the song, starring American rapper Kid Cudi, debuted later in December 2009. [15] The video begins with Shakira sitting in a steam-filled bathroom surrounded other women who meet her, all dressed in white. [43] The next scene shows a group of female Korean drummers performing the Korean Three Drum Dance. [44] Shakira appears in a bedroom wearing black underwear and begins to fight her partner (played by dancer Daniel Cloud Campos[40]) in a martial arts inspired dance routine and finally manages to defeat him. [43] [45] Scenes of Shakira dancing wearing a black and golden outfit follow. Near the end of the video, all previous scenes are quickly interspersed. The version with Kid Cudi, has additional scenes of the rapper in a room. [46] The music video received generally positive reviews from critics. Tanner Stransky from Entertainment Weekly reviewed the video positively, and said it was a fun feat to see her [Shakira] pull off. [41] Story Gilmore of Neon Limelight called the fight between Shakira and her partner an angry yet passion-filled tussle and the video a smoking hot winner. [47] Elena Gorgan of Softpedia, praised Shakira's dance moves and noted that she comes very close to perfection when it comes to artistic dance. [45] Jocelyn Vena of MTV News noted that Shakira danced around being sexy in the video. [15] Olivia Smith of the Daily News described the dance choreography as highly athletic, but criticized the design of the hotel room where the video was shot. [43] Live performances Shakira made an appearance on the September 18 episode of Jimmy Kimmel Live! and performed Did It Again, with She Wolf. [45] Shakira performed the song on the U.S. version of Dancing with the Stars on October 13,[49] and on Saturday Night Live on October 18. [44] In both performances, Shakira was backed by female Korean drummers, who were also featured in the music video for the song. [44] The song was also performed by Shakira at the 2009 MTV Europe Music Awards. [50] On November 15, she performed the song on the UK version of The X Factor.
